TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

— When the Public Instruction Act was passed various Protestant Churches gave up their denominational schools and threw in their influence with the movement in establishing the national system of ary education for which the Act provided, and for which it was admitted there was urgent necessity. At the same time, the Government was not in favour of any kind of compulsory education, and the Government's policy of voluntary education was not contemplated, nor has it been submitted to the House of Commons. The Government has been very anxious to encourage the growth of private enterprise in undertaking, and, as I have here heard, no one has ever urged the Government to do anything to prevent the growth of private enterprise. The Government has been very anxious to encourage the growth of private enterprise in undertaking, and, as I have here heard, no one has ever urged the Government to do anything to prevent the growth of private enterprise. the system which confers the right of suffrage on the population; and that they had respect to vested interests. But what has our present Minister of Education done, with one exception, to prevent him from following the wise and equitable policy of his predecessors. His own policy is not unfairly regarded as a reaction of war against all private and denominational schools, and it is not to be denied that such a change to the people is to be used for the purpose of carrying on this unrighteous war. I now protest against the Government's attempt to impose on the nation the national policy of the majority. So far as I can learn, there is no desire to let the Government to hark back from the High Road, where there is a demand that they shall meet with other schools on equal terms, and that the crisis which the Government are now offering to assist competitors, with the view of stimulating our schools, is a demand that they should rather withdraw of favour, shall be open to in a fair field and on equal terms. I am, &c., JOHN AULD,

[illegible]

And dear and loved ministers of the English Church I have met, and I hope these good men will soon be able to play their part in the new drama of a proper place of sisterhood and bury for ever such scenes as Paxton Hall, in "The Vocation of the Minister," a school of the "new evangelists" and the "pulpits in the new evangelism" were filled by two pastors of the name—John Davis was the incumbent of the parish, and the Rev. John Davis was the new evangelist. To the first, the Episcopal, on one occasion a parcel addressed the Rev. John Davis. He opened it, and found a letter from the Rev. John Davis, Nonconformist brother. The Episcopal was full of sense of high Church dignity, and he claimed the right of the Episcopal to the right of the Nonconformist. He forwarded the parcel to the proper destination with the curt note:—Sir, I am, yours, John Davis. But shortly after came another parcel, addressed to the Rev. John Davis; but this time it found its way by ill-luck to the Congregationalist. It was opened, and alas, it was a manuscript sermon from one of the miserable deacons in that kind of ware, and the Rev. John Davis was dependent on that method of supplying his own pulpit. This parcel, also repacked, was forwarded to the Rev. John Davis, and he was dependent on that method of supplying his own pulpit. This parcel, also repacked, was forwarded to the Rev. John Davis, and he was dependent on that method of supplying his own pulpit, and to which you have no right conferred

On the parts of the Cardinal—he has a bit of ground to dig—that the Pope's rule was over the world, and that the Pope's power cannot be in many of the acts of a bloody and lacharous—who had somewhat to do in breaking the yoke—yet, I am sure, that God in His holy judgment did not leave England out when the light of reformation was given to the nation.

And now, I am glad to see that the good if he follow the Bishop into that new field into which he as him, to trace every link of the chain in and descent from Peter to the present Pope; and that the different lines of the chain, and the doctrines and ceremonies of the Church of Rome agreeable to the Word of God, and more especially to the Christian religion, as it is contained in His will be a great help to His Church and people and to the whole community, but it will be heavy work and will require much study and prayer.

They were drawn by His authority at the blessing of Patrick's Presbytery. I am, &c.,

MICA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR—In your issue of this morning appears notice of the subject of mica. I am a native of that mineral has yet been discovered in New South Wales, and I know it has been found in Western Australia and New Zealand. I am writing to the Western Mail of 15th February last, purporting to be

THE FOLLOWING IS THE REPORT OF MR. H. P. WOODWARD, Government Geologist, Western Australia, dated 10th December 1910, which was further light on the matter, and which might think fit to republish for the information of the public.

"I am, Sir, glad to inform you that I have secured from the Australian Salt Deposits Commission a specimen or sample of mine (there turned out to be two) which is about 14 miles from Albany, and is about 6 inches thick, and is composed of thin and redly separate in thin semi-transparent sheets as the thickness of tissue paper. Since then I saw several other specimens of an amber color, and being to purchase several tons of this mineral, so that the Western Australian folks are alive to the value of this mineral, and it will no doubt sell at a price of granite formation, no doubt mine is to be found there in great quantities."

I am, &c.,

H. P. WOODWARD.

THOMAS TATE.
The following is the letter referred to above—
"It may be interesting for some of your readers to know that the Government geologists of Western Australia are busy developing the colony. This is mica, which it appears there is a large and increasing deposit of mica in the colony. The mica which has been made in this colony, but owing to sequestered state it has at the time, in spite of its abundance, been almost useless; but now even common mica has a value. The mica is obtained by prospecting these veins, as it is highly probable that the inferior mica raised in that part of the vein that has been used for the purpose of making working stones, whilst the clear mineral when struck should be handsome profit, as it fetches in the market at

THE INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC IN

THE INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC IN NEW ZEALAND.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

AUCKLAND, THURSDAY.
The influenza epidemic at Dunedin appears to be running rapidly through the country, and the number of the doctors and chemists are kept very busy. Most of the latter are averaging a hundred prescriptions per day. The epidemic made its appearance to-day at the Dunedin freezing works, and nearly all the employees had to knock off work. No serious cases are doctors and chemists of those seized being only invalided for two or three days.

MELBOURNE, THURSDAY.
Owing to the receipt of information as to the outbreak of influenza in New Zealand, the President of the Board of Public Health to-day sent a cable inquiring the exact nature of the disease.

MELBOURNE, THURSDAY.
One or two meetings of the unemployed have been held recently on vacant ground near the Working Men's College. The gatherings have been rather imposing as regards numbers. To-day at a meeting of about 100 persons it was announced that a letter had been sent to the Commissioner for Public Works asking him to appoint a day to receive a deputation. Mr. Henry George has been requested to deliver a lecture to provide funds for the relief of the unemployed.

indecent assault on Ellen Kluhsby, was acquitted. William Ernest Davis was acquitted on a charge of stealing from the post office, and the jury found that which was of no importance. The Judge concludes this afternoon.

There is no other fire and warm. The total rainfall up to the present from January 1 is 17.16. 83 points.

COOMA, THURSDAY.

The Hon. J. H. Carruthers and Mr. Williams, M.L.A., passed through this morning on route for Sydney.

GREENFIELD, THURSDAY.

Brown and Illia's farm, on the western side of the premises for the Union Bank here has been accepted. The price being £4500. The building is to be completed in eight months from the signing of the contract.

The weather is warm and fine.

WARRAGONG, THURSDAY.

The following resolution has been unanimously carried by the local council,—"That the thanks of the council be accorded to the local telegraph officials for the trouble and initiative they have taken in being posted outside the telegraph office during the recent flood."

HARDEN, THURSDAY.

A public meeting was held in the Murrumbidgee School of Arts here last night. Mr. T. D. Brady occupied the chair. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Brady, who was declared to hold a public meeting next Wednesday night to take into consideration all matters relative to the City of Harden, and to elect a committee to prepare and the nomination of a retiring officer. Several residents held a meeting last Tuesday, at the other end of the town, to consider the same question. The meeting had not been advertised, and there was only a small attendance, general dissatisfaction has since been expressed.

thoroughfares are drying up rapidly, and the small seeps, which have been very irregular for some weeks, have almost entirely dried up.

Vegetation of all kinds is flourishing, and the country is wearing a spring appearance.

LISMORE, THURSDAY.

The Mayor and Police Magistrate have made a visit through the flooded area of the town, and find no case of destitution. The loss is comparatively trifling. The Mayor was distributed with a number of certificates given to several Chinese gardeners, who, working at the lowest land for vegetables, have had their crops destroyed by the water. The Police Magistrate, Mr. G. H. G. Magistrate states that, in his opinion, there is no other town in the colony whose circumstances would show how much destitution would be caused by a similar visit. The sugar-cane along the river bank, from Copeland to Lismore, is very little injured, the quantity damaged being small. The crops of wheat and clover have done a lot of good if we are not so favoured with sun and a mild winter. Crops in the district mentioned look splendid, except only such portions of the plantations, or late-cut crops, as have been waterlogged. It is believed this will be found to be the rule along the whole river system to come crops.

At the decision of the Public Works Committee recommending the Hyon Bay breakwater, and the railway from the Tweed to Lismore, was made, the Government has decided to build a new Casino should also have been included, and that work from Grafton to the Tweed might easily have been included.

The weather has a more settled appearance to-night than it has worn for some days.

MURURUNDI, THURSDAY.

There are 10 houses in the town, and the Mururundi Headcamp and Publican's Pursue, events to be on the 17th and 18th April combined. Should the present fine weather continue, the publicans will anticipate big entries for the other events.

NEWCASTLE, THURSDAY.

At a public meeting held last night at Lismore, at the Mayor of Wollaham in the chair, it was resolved that the time for the establishment of the new Casino should be established at Lismore; that the Port Office authorities in Sydney be requested to obtain a site for the Casino, and that the Government be requested to the Port Master-General with the mild resolutions.

WAGGA, THURSDAY.

The weather is stormy and cold. The river is falling, and is now off the bar. At night, the river is falling, and is now off the bar.

WALCHA, THURSDAY.

A large meeting was held at Walcha, for the arrangements for the show next year in connection with the A. and P. Association. It was decided to have the show on the 17th and 18th April combined.
